Happy Housekeepers

Manage your business's costs to put a smile on your boss's face and reduce unnecessary processing impact on the environment.

For instance, simple rules like:

- Do not overstock
- Store the linen sensibly
 - Lock it away
- Accurately count your soiled linen out and clean linen in

Did you know?

Orders placed after our 12.00 cut off time may not make your next delivery day, or may incur an additional charge.

It's as easy as 1,2,3

Simple isn't it? Our drivers exchange your soiled items for clean, yet to achieve this we need your co-operation.

1. Accurately count each soiled item to be collected and record it on your soiled count list.
2. Orders to be with us by mid-day to ensure next day delivery.
3. Segregate the soiled linen into separate bags or lined cages.

All Towels together, Sheets & Pillow Cases as a group & Duvet Covers in their correct coloured bag or individual cage. Please keep Kitchen type cloths apart from Table Cloths to avoid potential mildew charges.

Did you know?

For each piece of linen we see hanging out of a cage or laundry bag... there is potential damage.

Turn Turn Turn

It doesn't take much to help us help you. All it needs when stripping beds is to turn Pillow Cases & Duvet Covers the right way around before sending them in for laundry. Please also ensure any Bathrobe pockets are emptied before sending them to us.

This simple solution affects our production times and saves your costs, the result is we deliver Pillow Cases & Duvet Covers the correct way round.

As we say at Swiss & Camplings:
It's the little things that make a big difference.

Sometimes You Will Need to Reject

Just occasionally you may have an item of linen delivered that you feel unable to use.

Do send it back to us clearly labelled, with your company name on an easily identifiable 'Reject Bag'. This helps us to give you a free replacement and to analyse our processes to improve the service you receive.

Did you know?

We have a rigorous replacement programme for linen and are working with the TSA on the programme to recycle end of life textiles

The Do, Do, Do's

Linen is a valuable resource so please be kind to the linen when storing it...

Well stacked and organised on the shelves helps – heavy items on the bottom, light stuff on top and in a dry well aired room too! Rotating regularly is important and keeps guests happy with clean fresh linen.

Did you know?

You can ask for 'shelf stickers' for easy identification for your team.

& Don't, Don't, Don'ts

To avoid your guests seeing less than perfect laundry, do not leave it lying on the floor where it can easily be trodden on and possibly pick up marks that we cannot remove.

Please do not misuse linen, it can lead to potential staining which may not readily lift out and might result in unnecessary charges to you!

Did you know?

For each piece of linen that is damaged there is a cost.

It wasn't us, honest!

Housekeepers you can help us to help you. We have seen it all before so please do not allow your staff to use Towels or Pillow cases as cleaning cloths or as door stops either!

Real no no's are to use the linen in purposes for which they were not originally designed, also please do not drag linen across unsealed concrete floors as that's one stain we cannot remove.

Did you know?

You can request extra bags/cages for your linen & towelling, but there may be a charge if these are used for non-laundry items.

Nasty Stuff

We know it's not nice, but someone's got to do it!
Please place any 'heavily soiled' items in the water soluble Red Bags.

This helps us to ensure that items are given the correct disinfectant treatment back at the laundry. We can provide these, so just ask.

Did you know?

The red soluble bag seal is made from a water soluble glue!

Tools to do the job & protect the products

We use Cages and Bags to bring freshly clean stock in to you, and to remove the sorted soiled stock for processing.

Please ensure Swiss Camplings cages and bags are only used for holding our textiles stock.

Only order the cage &/or bag numbers you need for the next exchange delivery. A Swiss Camplings laundry cage or bag used for another purpose can result in Swiss Camplings stock being loose and at risk of being damaged.

Use the liners in the cages and the laundry bags for collecting and protecting the soiled linen.

Please don't cut the cord used on the laundry bags.

Did you know?

Exclusive use of our cages and bags for linen & laundry can prevent linen & towelling damage which may incur a charge.

Because we care

Actions speak louder than words' That's why we've been silently investing for a more sustainable future. Actively reducing our consumption of plastic, water, electricity and gas. As well as reusing, recycling and donating old linen.

Reduce - We have halved our equivalent water consumption through our investment in technology for our new plants. Our driers are designed to finish at the optimum moisture content levels.

Reuse - Our business is all about restoring linen to a reusable quality. It is our core activity and a philosophy we run throughout the organisation. We also donate a proportion of our linen to good local causes.

Recycle - Our packaging is constantly under review and excess is retained and re-cycled. Our washing machines recycle water and through heat recovery systems, only cold water leaves our sites.

Did you know?

Our investment in our new laundries means we have greatly reduced the energy needed per kilo of laundry washed.
